The Civil Rights Bill.

The Civil Rights bill, which has passed the Senate over the President's veto, and now awaits the action of the House of Representatives, provides as follows:

SECTION 1. That all persons born in the United States, and not subject to any foreign power, excluding Indians not taxed, are hereby declared to be citizens of the United States; and such citizens of every race and color, without regard to any previous condition of slavery or involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall have the same right in every State and Territory to make and enforce contracts, to sue, to be sued, be parties and give evidence, to inherit, purchase lease, sell, hold, and convey real and personal property, and to be entitled to full and equal benefit of all laws and proceedings for the security of person and property, as is enjoyed by white citizens, and shall be subject to like punishments, pains, and penalties, and to none other, any law, statute, ordinance, regulation, or custom to the contrary, notwithstanding.

SEC. 2. Any person who shall deprive any inhabitant of any State or Territory of any right secured by this act, under color of law, regulation, or custom, is declared guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars or imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 3. The United States District Courts shall have exclusive cognizance of all offences against this act, and also, concurrently with the United States Circuit Court, of all civil and criminal causes affecting persons where rights are secured by section 1. Any suit against such persons, begun in any State Court, may be removed for trial to the proper District or Circuit Court. In exceptional cases the common law, as modified and changed by the constitution and statutes of the States, wherein the court having jurisdiction of the cause, civil or criminal, is held, so far as the same is not inconsistent with the Constitution and laws of the United States, shall be extended, and govern said courts in the trial and disposition of such cause, and if of a criminal nature, in the infliction of punishment on the party found guilty.

SEC. 4. The district attorneys, marshals, and deputy marshals of the United States, the commissioners appointed by the circuit and territorial courts of the United States, with powers of arresting, imprisoning, or bailing offenders against the laws of the United States, the officers and agents of the Freedmen's Bureau, and every officer who may be specially empowered by the President of the United States, are specially authorized and required, at the expense of the United States, to institute proceedings against every person who shall violate the provisions of this act; and it is made the duty of the circuit courts of the United States, and the Superior Courts of the Territories, from time to time to increase the number of commissioners, so as to afford a speedy and convenient means for the arrest and examination of persons charged with a violation of this act.

SEC. 5. The commissioners are empowered to have concurrent jurisdiction with the United States Circuit and District Judges and Territorial Judges, both in term time and vacation.

SEC. 6. United States Marshals and their deputies are required to obey all warrants issued under this act. In case of refusal they may be fined one thousand dollars each, for the use of the person upon whom the accused is alleged to have committed the offence. The commissioners are empowered to appoint county assistants to execute warrants, and the latter may call for assistance upon bystanders or summons a posse comitatus, or the military and naval forces.

SEC. 7. Any person who shall knowingly and wrongfully obstruct, hinder, or prevent any officer or other person charged with the execution of any warrant or process issued under this act, or any person or persons lawfully assisting, or attempt to rescue prisoners from custody, is subject to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, and imprisonment not exceeding six months, by indictment before the United States District Court, or the proper court of criminal jurisdiction, if committed within any one of the organized Territories of the United States.

SEC. 8. The District Attorneys, Marshals, and their deputies and clerks of District and Territorial Courts, shall be paid for their services the fees allowed for similar services in other cases; and in all cases where the proceedings are before a commissioner, he shall be entitled to a fee of ten dollars in full for his services in each case, inclusive of all services incident to such arrest and examination. The person or persons authorized to execute the process issued by commissioners for the arrest of offenders shall be entitled to a fee of five dollars for each person arrested, with such other fees as may be deemed reasonable by the commissioner—to be paid out of the Treasury of the United States, on the certificate of the commissioner of the district within which the arrest is made, and recoverable from the defendant as part of the judgment in case of conviction.

SEC. 9. Whenever the President of the U. S. shall have reason to believe that offences have been or are likely to be committed against the provisions of this act, it shall be lawful for him, in his discretion, to direct the judge, marshal, and district attorney of the district to attend at such place within the district and at such time as he may designate for the purpose of the more speedy arrest and trial of persons charged with a violation of this act; and it shall be the duty of every judge or other officer, when any such requisition shall be received by him, to attend at the place and for the time therein designated.

SEC. 10. That it shall be lawful for the President of the United States, or such persons as he may empower for the purpose, to employ such part of the land or naval forces of the United States, or of the militia, as shall be necessary to prevent the violation and enforce the due execution of this act.

SEC. 11. That upon all questions of law arising in any cause under the provisions of this act, a final appeal may be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States.

SALISBURY BRASS BAND

REORGANIZED 1st January, 1866, on a larger scale than formerly, under the direction of its former tutor, W. H. NEAVE, who was also chief music writer and Band Teacher in Gen. Lee's army. He will be assisted in leadship and direction by his brother, Ed. Neave, leader during the entire late war of Gen. Lee's best and most favorite band, viz: 4th N. C. The Band is composed of the best members of the old Band, together with the best members of several of the fine Bands trained by W. H. Neave, in camps, who have moved to Salisbury from all points in the State to follow their respective vocations and continue the study and practice of music. This Band will be a permanent institution for all State and festive occasions, and will equal the best to be found in the world, if sustained by those desiring a fine order of Brass and String music; if not, it must go down after this year.

W. H. Neave is also agent for the celebrated Dodworth Brass instruments, proved and warranted to him, and by him to others; also, the most pleasing, effective and popular Piano music, selected by his friends, H. B. Dodworth and Kent Botsford, New York. For beginners, medium players, and advanced musicians, no trash for either.

Music composed and arranged to order for Parlor, Orchestral and Brass Band use for any kind and number of instruments.

Salisbury has been selected for Musical Headquarters for its central position.

N. B. Make letters of enquiry for musical information, but with no view to business with Mr. Neave or Band must contain two postage stamps.

Congress---The Anarchy Bill.

The Senate was not in session on Saturday last.

In the House, Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, gave notice that on Monday next, immediately after the expiration of the morning hour, he would call for the reading of the message of the President vetoing the Civil Rights bill, and that immediately after the reading of the message was concluded, he would demand the previous question on the passage of the bill.

Objection was made to pressing a matter of such grave importance to a vote under the operation of the previous question,—thus shutting off all opportunity for discussion. Mr. Wilson, however, with true Radical pertinacity, persisted in his intention, and the applause which greeted the announcement indicated the readiness of the Jacobin side of the House to sustain him in his purpose. The probability, therefore, is that the Civil Rights Bill is, ere this, a law of the land.

As we stated, on yesterday, there is much speculation as to the course of the President in connection with the bill. He has denounced it as radically vicious in principle, and grossly unconstitutional. Will he execute it, or will he attempt to stand between it and the people? Evidently, this is what the Radicals desire him to do, for they would then have a pretext for his impeachment. It is not likely, therefore, that he will give them this advantage over him. He will, doubtless, however, raise such a point as will throw the question of the constitutionalty of the law before the Supreme Court, and obtain a decision before that tribunal which will enable and require him to regard it as a nullity. Meanwhile, we are convinced that its operations will result in convincing the people that the President's objections are well founded, and will ultimately effect the destruction of the party that conceived it.

It is to be observed that the provisions of the bill are not circumscribed by section or locality. They are general in their operation in all the States of the Union. When it is remembered that an extensive emigration of negroes from the border States of the late Confederacy to the free States—from Kentucky and Tennessee into Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, and from Virginia and the Carolinas to the Eastern and the Northern States,—is steadily progressing, it will be seen that the people in those States, which have heretofore been free from the presence of the negroes, are likely speedily to realize some of the pernicious fruits of this most iniquitous scheme. It was aimed, with a blind and malignant fury, at the devoted head of the South. But the "engineer may be hoist with his own petard." Unless the indications of the times are very fallacious, the curse may return "to plague the inventor." When that day comes,—when the pseudo-friends of the negro begin to realize some of the practical consequences of negro equality, they will curse the day that witnessed their mad and foolish policy. They will undo their mischievous work most speedily.

The Cotton Crop.

The information we receive from different portions of the State authorizes us to believe, that the prospects of the next crop, so far, in regard to the labor of the freedmen, is flattering. In the cotton section of the State, a larger crop will be seeded than usual, and if the freedmen employed fulfil their contracts, we may expect a large cotton crop.

Perhaps, however, at this stage, a note of warning to planters may not be out of place.—The high price which cotton has borne will doubtless encourage too great attention to the cultivation of that article, to the neglect of the cereals and the grain crop. Such a course, as heretofore, will be sure to end in disappointment. The first aim of every planter should be to make corn, hay, fodder, potatoes, peas and bacon enough for his own use and to spare. Where these are neglected, no reasonable price for cotton will compensate for the deficiency. We are inclined to think that the next crop of cotton will not average more than 25 cts. per pound. This is a high price in a state of peace, but this price will not be sufficient to balance against scarcity of food for man and beast.

CASE OF MAJ. GEE.—We learn that the plea to the jurisdiction of the Court entered by Col. Holland, Counsel for the defence, on Monday, has been over-ruled by the Commission, and that the trial will be proceeded with.

Are they Fanatics?

WEBSTER defines a "fanatic" to be "a person affected with excessive enthusiasm." Adopting this definition, we concur with the National Intelligencer that we have erred in applying the epithelt to the radical leaders in Congress. Enthusiasm is honest, though it may be mistaken or misapplied. Enthusiasm never calculates or schemes. It goes to its work with a generally unreasoning impetuosity. But these men are controlled and actuated by cold, calculating, venomous design. The Intelligencer dagurreotypes them far better than we can do:

"They are said to be fanatical. Believe it not. There is now a great plot among them—a perfect method of madness—in which no detail is disproportioned, no instrumentality distorted, no contingency uncounted by the characteristic enthusiasm and sincere but fatal zeal of the fanatic. All is as sober, as shrewd, as unconscionable and as cold as ever sedition was planned, stratagem contrived, or assassination canvassed, by the desperate and monstrous usurpers of the dark ages. There is not a fanatic in Congress. There is no Gerrit Smith, no Giddings, no Lovejoy. There is Sumner, with his scrap-book of fraud; Stevens, vivid in every motion and look of his contemptuous command to an associate, "to hell with your conscience;" Fessenden, the restive, envious, but compulsory follower of Sumner; Wade, the blasphemous and brutal, who dares to insult the prayers of Christians by thanking their God, in open Senate, for the impending death of fellow Senators. Such are examples of the "fanatics." As well class the cold but delusive dexterity of the midnight gaming board with the impassioned earnestnessof the mourner's bench, as the soulless ratiocination of these men's politics with the honest but unreasonable fervor of the John Browns, the Giddingses, and the Lovejoys of a former day. There cannot now be abolitionists, because there is nothing to abolish. This extraordinary pro-negro movement, conducted in the now obsolete but still stirring language of the old agitators—in the splendid imagery and ravishing sentiment of universal freedom—the very poetry of politics in all ages—is nothing in the world but a fraud—a fraud upon the negroes, who are never to have freedom in the suffrages proposed for them; a fraud upon the white men who make the constituencies of those who persuade them to believe that justice is the motive; a fraud upon that noble soldiery who pledged in the lightning and storm of battle, even to the very enemy before them, by every flash of their guns, the perpetuation of the Constitution of their fathers, the indissolubility of fraternal bonds, and the dignity of the Anglo-Saxon race; and a fraud upon mankind, who, throughout the world, are called to witness and conjured to believe that philanthropy and justice are the public objects of such action. This stupendous fraud is practised upon the public to cover up a mere scheme for preserving the reins of power in the lands of a junto, who proceed upon two postulates, viz: (1) Self-government is a failure, and the strongest wills must inevitably rule. (2) We have the power now, and must keep it at all hazards."

The Situation.

The Southern people have been kept so long on the qui vive, by the action of the Radicals in Congress, to learn what will be the upshot of their efforts to maintain their ascendancy over the government, that, under the wearying turmoil of hope deferred, they have possibly learned, that, having no part in the legislation of the government, they would be quite as well off to leave matters entirely to the Northern people, and devote themselves exclusively to such provision for the preservation of life and comfort as Providence has left them.

Cartain it is, and no refinements can conceal it, that, in order to the preservation of their party influence, there is no limit to the injuries the Radicals would inflict upon us, even to our utter annihilation, but the will of God. If He should be unconcerned about the future of the South—if He, as in the case of Job, should deliver us up to the tender mercies of the Radicals, as he did Job to the power of the Evil One, we should be reduced to a condition more degrading and helpless than was ever before experienced by mortals.

Yet, we cannot doubt the mercy and the justice of God, unworthy of His mercy as we are; and believing this, we still look forward to the day when the power and influence of those who trample upon the Constitution as a worthless parchment will be broken, and the Republic shall be free.

Revenue Tax.

Our people must not overlook the call of Mr. Jones, the U. S. Revenue Collector for this District, now at the Yarborough House. We are happy to announce to our readers that we are now publishing a paper under a license from the government of the United States. Who dares question our loyalty?

Whaling.

We are obliged to our correspondent at Morehead City, for his interesting account of the whaling expedition off Beaufort Harbor. It must be fine sport, though a little hazardous, for the citizens of that region. We hope to hear often from our Beaufort and Morehead City friends of passing events.

The Mails.

A friend in Chatham suggests a change in the day of publication of our Weekly, so as to correspond with the mail days. We shall be glad to accommodate all, and if Saturday would suit all the mail routes better, we would publish it on that day. We shall be glad to hear from our friends on the subject.

"Andrew Johnson made his escape from Tennessee, in a close buggy, with three armed guards. He ought to be caught ere he reaches Abram's bosom."—Standard, June 26, 1861.

The Standard denies that any such article as the foregoing, quoted by the Sentinel, appeared in the alleged issue of that paper. Not having the Standard file of 1861, we took the extract from the printed speech of Mr. Turner. We have since consulted the file, however, and find the extract published, as an item of news, in the Weekly Standard of the date referred to.

PERSONAL.—We were glad to see Gen. Robert Ransom, Jr., of Wilmington, in this City, on yesterday. The General appears to be in fine health.

The Last Battle Field.

Rev. Dr. Craven, on his way to the General Conference of the M. E. Church, South, in New Orleans, stopped at Lynchburg, Va., and, in writing to the Enterprise of this city, makes the following touching allusion to Appomattox Court House, in Virginia:

"We have passed to-day through a locality of undying memories. Appomattox Court House will be remembered whenever Petersburg and Raleigh are forgotten. The whole country shows most impressively that the storm of war has passed over it. The debris of a ruined army of heroic men brings sadness to the soul. Over all this field of the death struggle, the farmers are ploughing, new fences have been erected and the budding vegetation is just now awaking to the wooing of spring; but these signs of life, generally so welcome, seem discordant here. It seems to the sad soul and the tearful eye, that these old shoes, these broken guns, these fragments of waggons, wrecks of cars, pieces of old hats, bleaching bones of horses, and nameless graves of many a Southern boy, ought to be in a desert.

As we look upon the forsaken batteries and immense hospitals of Farmville, or the stricken fields of Appomattox, we feel that the plough ought not to turn this soil, that the trees ought to die, and that no bird ought ever to sing here again. No Union man, however true and loyal to the United States, if he is a man, could walk over this desperate field unmoved and untouched. Here a brave army surrendered, gave up its arms and laid its banners in the dust. Here lie the remains of a son and brother, for whom a mother mourns and a sister weeps, and there is none to comfort them. Here lie the half uncovered bones of a father, whose little children still ask, "when will father come home?" It is now night, it is raining gently, all is still, and I feel a lonely sadness that makes the heart ache."

The Case of Zilla Thornton.

By the kindness of a gentleman of the bar, of this city, we, this morning, give the particulars of this case, which we deem highly important at this period, because it is the first capital offense which has been tried in the State since the change made in the condition of the freedmen.

The burning of a dwelling in which persons reside has always been regarded, in this State, as one of the highest offenses known to our criminal law. The evidence in the case is mostly circumstantial, but it was so strong as to incline nine-tenths of those who heard the testimony, to believe the woman was guilty. Her own statements added to this would have convicted her beyond doubt, yet Judge Fowle, besides assigning for her defense able counsel, such as Messrs. Bragg, Phillips, Smith and Abell, gave her all the benefits of the law which would be allowed to any other person, by which the jury felt bound to acquit her. It, therefore, follows, that in North Carolina colored persons may as certainly look for justice and right from our Courts, as from any other source whatever.

THE RICHMOND papers, after a week's suspension, on account of a difficulty with the "Typographical Society," have resumed publication. We are glad to chronicle their re-appearance, and congratulate our cotemporaries upon having conquered their difficulties.

CHOLERA AT HALIFAX, N. S.—We learn from a special telegram to the Progress, of last evening, that a case of Asiatic Cholera has appeared at Halifax,—having been brought there by a German emigrant.

RADICAL DEFEAT IN CONNECTICUT.—We learn, from yesterday's Progress, that the entire Democratic ticket has succeeded in the municipal election in Hartford—thereby changing the political complexion of the City government.

THE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL will be found upon the first page of this morning's issue.

Astounding Frauds on the Government---Arrest of Some of The Parties.

NASHVILLE, TENN., April 6.

There is considerable excitement in the city consequent upon the arrest of several persons formerly in the Quartermaster's Department under Col. Charles H. Travis. M. H. Brunes, formerly Superintendent of the mule corrals, is shortly to be tried for alleged frauds on the government. Numerous witnesses, formerly in the employ of the Quartermaster's Department, are to be summoned. Several persons who are believed to be implicated in the frauds have disappeared. These cases will reveal some astounding facts relative to the management of the Quartermaster's Department in this city.

The Great Fair.

BALTIMORE, April 9.—The Southern Relief Fair is a magnificent success. Some suppose that a half million dollars will be realized.

New York Markets.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Flour and wheat firm. Corn active; yellow, 75 cents. Oats active, and advanced 1 cent. Provisions unchanged. Whiskey firm, at $2,26 @ 3,27. Gold 127¼.

TOBACCO SALE.—A hogshead of tobacco, weighing 1,041 pounds, was sold in Lynchburg, Friday, for $52 per cwt. The article is said to be good, but not extra for wrappers.

Milton was asked: "How is it that in some countries a king is allowed to take his place on the throne at fourteen years of age, but may not marry until he is eighteen? "Because," said the poet, "it is easier to govern a kingdom than a woman."

There's two ways of doing it," said Pat to himself, as he stood musing, and waiting for a job. "If I save me four thousand dollars, I must lay up two hundred a year for twenty years, or I can put away twenty dollars a year for two hundred years—now which shall I do?"

When a Georgia girl is kissed she frowns and says: "Put that article right back, sir, where you took it from."

GRATITUDE.—To be thankful to God is not to say "God be praised," or "God be thanked;" but to remember what he desires, and execute what he commands. To be thankful to God is certainly to love Him, and to love Him is to keep His commandments. So saith our Savior, "If ye love me, keep my commandments."—Chillingworth.

For the Sentinel.

Rare Sport on the Sea-Coast,---Five Whales Caught off Beaufort Harbor!

MESSRS. EDITORS:—As an item of news, which may interest some of your readers, I here send to you a brief account of "The Whale Fishery" in this region. It no doubt will also be new to many to learn, that for years past, the fishermen who live on the sand banks near Cape Lookout, some twelve miles distant from Morehead City, have been extensively engaged, during the Spring months, in catching porpoises from the sea, in strong seines made for the purpose, which fish yield a large per centum of oil suitable for tanners, &c. But for a few Springs past, they have ventured out seaward, and have taken whales occasionally. Last Spring, they caught two, that yielded some forty barrels of oil. This Spring, however, there are two whaling Schooners from Provincetown, Mass., that have been cruising round Cape Lookout for a month or more. Some two weeks ago, the whalemen of one vessel captured a small whale, (called a calf,) which yielded some twelve bbls. of oil. But it was reserved for this week, for each of the vessels to capture a large whale, just off the harbor of Morehead City, or "so called" Beaufort harbor. The schooner P. C. Howard, Captain Hudson, came in yesterday, towing a dead whale some 50 feet long, and this morning the schooner Union, Captain Nickerson, came in bringing a whale some 65 feet long which the Captain said would probably yield 70 to 75 bbls. of Oil! I visited the vessels, to-day, to view these great "monsters of the deep." The vessels were surrounded by boats, filled with astonished spectators, each vieing with the other in expressing their "wonderment" and delight. The Captains of the vessels, tho' taxed with numerous questions, very obligingly answered them all, and showed the various implements of death used in killing whales,—the Harpoon, the Lance, and a sort of Blunderbuss, from which is fired an arrow-shaped shell, with a 30 second fuse attached, which, if it strikes, makes sure of its victim.

The vessels are provided with boiling fixtures for trying out the oil, also with suitable boats, &c. And now, while I write, a boat from each vessel is in pursuit of a whale, there being two, it is said, off the harbor, and possibly another prize may be added to the list. Much interest is felt here in regard to this somewhat new enterprise, starting up almost at our very doors. I will add that the Captain stated that the killing of the largest whale was an especially dangerous affair, one of the boats being shattered by a blow from the fluke or tail of the monster, and was only kept from sinking by canvass being nailed over the rent. The other boat was struck and dashed sidewise so violently, as to throw every man into the sea, but Captain Nickerson.

You, Messrs. Editors, away off in your hill-surrounded, oak-shaded city, no doubt at times have sight seeings, and hear thrilling narratives; but if you want your blood to leap through your veins, come! come! to the sea-shore!—Come see old ocean made mad by chafing winds, dashing wildly on the beach! Go not where gentle zephyrs play in the winding mountain paths, kissing the dew from violets. But come to the sea, where mighty winds howl, and where nightly the ocean serves as a lullaby winning one to sweetest sleep!

Yours, &c.

ESCALOP-SHELL.

Morehead City, April 8, 1866.

P. S. Since writing the above, I have heard that two more whales have been killed,—one by the boatmen, who were in pursuit, yesterday, and one by the fishermen of Cape Lookout banks. Yours, E. S.

The Progress of the Fair---Magnificent Donation by Mr. Winans---The Fair Journal.

[CORRESPONDENCE OF THE PETERSBURG INDEX.]

BALTIMORE,, April 7 1866.

Dear Index: Yesterday closes the first week of the great exhibition, and its success is a fixed fact. I have not undertaken any record of the articles or names of the managers and contributors, because the city papers contain fuller reports on these points than I could possibly gather, and my attention has been directed to the noting of matters of interest coming under my observation, which will probably escape the notice of the resident reporters in their search for statistics.

There has been, since my last, no decrease in attendance on the Fair, the interest or rather enthusiasm of the citizens shows no sign of abatement, and every train from the South comes loaded with visitors. On each successive night the assemblage has been larger and more brilliant. Dressing is carried to a perfection here not dreamed of in our section, and the elaborate specimens of the latest styles in fashion are to be seen lending to and borrowing adornment from the beautiful women and handsome men who throng the halls.

Last evening, in addition to the usual attractions at the Institute, a grand concert was given by a fine amateur band composed of the most accomplished musicians of Baltimore. The music was admirable, well selected and beautifully executed—as fine as I have ever heard from the best professional orchestras.

The receipts were greatly increased yesterday and the talk of the day was the donation by Mr. Winans of the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars towards the object of the Fair. He first sent the ladies a blank check to be filled up at their own discretion, but their delicacy refusing to name the amount of his donation, he filled it up for the above magnificent sum, and returned it with a request that if they needed more the Executive Committee should draw upon him.

The list of subscribers of $1,000 each, which I reported was being made up, is said this morning to be nearly completed. It is very hard to form any approximate idea of the receipts so far, as there are so many agents—the statements made vary from two to four hundred thousand dollars. The noble generosity of these people is beyond praise, and yet, to the eyes of radicalism, not even charity covereth the sin of suspected humanity.

ANOTHER NOVELTY IN PARIS.—A new caterer for a public always hungry after novelties is just now taking Paris by storm. Talrich, the well-known maker of the wonderful anatomical models familiar to surgical professors all over the continent, as well as at the School of Medicine, has opened, on the Boulevard, an exhibition of wax figures, grouped together like tableaux vivants, and of most life-like appearance and character. One very striking group is of Rinaldo and Armida; another, a perfect masterpiece of artistic effect, represents Hercules and Omphale, the delicate beauty of the Lydian Queen standing out in marvellous contract with the brawny strength of the Hero of Many Labors. Another group represents a scene of torture of the middle ages, with a horrible vigor of verisimilitude absolutely terrifying. A portrait of the great surgeon, Deputren, dissecting a body in the scene of his long labors, the amphitheatre of the Paris School of Medicine, surrounded by a group of students, though repulsive, is wondertully life-like, and seems to exercise a peculiar fascination on the curiosity of the visitors.

[REPORTED FOR THE SENTINEL.]

Wake Superior Court.

STATE	}	ARSON.—Burning the dwelling house of Mrs. Yelverton, in the town of Smithfield, Johnston county, on the 9th of February, 1865.
ZILLA THORNTON.	}

Counsel for Defence.—Mr. Phillips, of Orange, Messrs. Abell and Smith, of Johnston, and Mr. Bragg, of Raleigh.

The case was removed by the Judge to Wake, as it was thought the prisoner might not have a fair trial, owing to some supposed feeling or excitement against her in Johnston. She was unable to employ Counsel and so the Counsel were assigned by the Court to defend her.

Mrs. Yelverton stated that her husband was in the Confederate army; that she and her five children were at home asleep, and that between 11 and 12 o'clock, at night, she was aroused by smoke in the room; that she ran out, found the fire burning, then about as high as her head, on the side of a small room cut off at one end of the piazza on the front part of her house; that it appeared to have been fired from underneath, where she saw remains of some burning pieces of lightwood splinters; that the house was speedily burned down and every thing in the house consumed, though persons soon came to her assistance; that Zilla occupied the kitchen just in rear of the house, which was also burned, taking fire from the house; that when she ran out, she went to the kitchen, and after some calling Zilla came out. She ordered her to get water to put out the fire; she got a tub of water, brought it to the place of fire, but threw it down and made no effort to put it out. She saw Zilla afterwards come out of the kitchen with her infant child in her arms, and not long after saw her sitting in the back lot, where her bed, bed-stead and other household effects were together in a pile.—(The inference was sought to be raised that Zilla had carried the things out before the fire.) She also swore that a few days before the fire, Zilla, who had ran away, was brought back by the man from whom she had been hired. She was mad, and said "she would have recompense, and would burn up every thing on the lot before the week was out." The house was burned on the Saturday night following.

A colored woman, named Levithe, stated that last summer, she told the prisoner that it was said she had burned Yelverton's house, and asked her if it was so,—to which she made no answer whatever.

Joanna Rose, colored, was also introduced by the State to prove confessions by prisoner. But, upon being questioned by prisoner's counsel, she said she had a conversation with her, but did not think she could now give the whole of the conversation—thought she could not give more than half of it. Evidence objected to, unless she could give the whole, and the objection sustained by the Court.

Mr. Renfrow lived 150 yards off; was called up by Mr. Yelverton's son; got there very soon; some others white and colored there before him. House so far on fire that could get nothing out it—fire by the wind seemed to be carried through the house. It was bursting through the back doors and windows and nothing could be done.

He saw Zilla some five minutes after he got there, but was not able to tell where she had been or what about.

This was the evidence for the State.

The only witnesses for prisoner were two colored men, Henry Holland and Willis McCullers.

They said they were living in a house, 150 or 200 yards off, heard the cry of fire, ran to the place and were the first to get there. They found the house on fire, and the fire rapidly spreading. A son of Mrs. Yelverton asked them to try and get their meat out of a small room in rear of the house—a shed room, of which there were two—that in going round they met Zilla with a tub of water going towards the fire at a small room in front; had seen Mrs. Yelverton in the shed when they got there; found fire bursting through doors and windows in rear of the house.

It was impossible to save any thing. They then ran into the kitchen; found Zilla's baby in the bed apparently asleep—that they took up the bed with the child on it and carried it out in the lot and put it down—that the bedstead was standing—they tore it down and carried it and other articles from the kitchen, assisted by another colored man and a colored woman—that a part of the things carried out belonged to Mrs. Yelverton, the rest to Zilla—that they saw none of Zilla's things in the lot where they carried the articles. That Zilla was not there at the time—that the child began to cry about that time and Zilla came to it and remained there afterwards. They were positive as to carrying out the child and articles. They further stated that Zilla was in her stocking feet, had on no shoes, and that her dress, when they first saw her, seemed to be unfastened and loose-by thrown on, as if in haste.

There being some alleged contradiction between these witnesses and Mrs. Yelverton, there was evidence offered by the defence tending to prove their good character, and also by the State to prove the good character of Mrs. Yelverton.

The case was elaborately argued by the Attorney General for the State, and Messrs. Bragg and Abell for the prisoner. By the former, mainly on the ground that the prisoner ought not to be convicted, unless the jury were satisfied of her guilt to a moral certainty, and beyond a rational doubt, and that this had not been proven.

After a lucid charge from the Judge, the jury retired at about 7 P. M., and continued out nearly 24 hours, when they returned a verdict of not guilty.

"I Shall Take no Step Backward."

It the President ever felt himself under obligations to pause in his onward march to perfect peace, in order to consult the wishes or conciliate the prejudices of the Jacobins, that day has past. They have cancelled all obligation.

We anticipate that he will, before many days, take the next great step of UNIVERSAL AMNESTY.—Pet. Index.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

THE LADIES' TABLEAUX.—We are enabled to present below the programme for this most praise-worthy exhibition, which is to come off on Thursday night, at the Chapel of the Deaf, Dumb and the Blind. The arrangements for the entertainment are very complete and attractive; and everything will be done to render the occasion interesting that the refined taste of the fair exhibitors can suggest. We appeal to our citizens to give them a rousing house. Let us show our appreciation of their patriotic and beautiful motives, and our own regard for the memories of the heroic dead.

LADIES' TABLEAUX.

Programme

FIRST PART.

1. Peter the Great saved by his mother.
2. Joan of Arc receiving the sword.
3. Joan of Arc in Prison.
4. The village Postmistress.
5. The slave merchant,—two scenes.
6. Mary Queen of Scots signing her abdication.

SECOND PART.

1. Falstaff and the merry wives of Windsor.
2. Leicester confessing his marriage to Queen Elizabeth.
3. Night and Morning.
4. The game of Life,—two scenes.
5. Sir Walter Raleigh parting with his wife.
6. Feast of Roses.

Doors open at 7½ o'clock, Tableaux to commence at 8 o'clock. Tickets can be obtained at the Store of the Messrs. McKimmon.

THE PALMER ARTIFICIAL LIMB.—We had the pleasure of a visit, on yesterday, from Capt. J. G. Morrison, of Lincoln Co., formerly of the staff of his brother-in-law, Gen. "Stonewall" Jackson. Capt. M. lost his foot, from the explosion of a shell, near Petersburg, in the summer of 1864. He has just returned from Philadelphia, where he obtained from Dr. B. Frank Palmer & Co., the well-known manufacturers of artificial limbs, an artificial foot,—adapted to what is known as Chopart's amputation. He does not hesitate to express the opinion, after a careful examination of the various limbs now in use, that the Palmer limb is vastly superior to any other, and he is glad of an opportunity of recommending it to those of his former comrades who have suffered like himself. We are, ourselves, much impressed with the wonderful ingenuity and excellence of the mechanism.—Neither by the appearance of the foot, as covered by the shoe, nor hardly in the gait, is it possible to detect which is the artificial member.

MESSRS. MITCHELL, ALLEN & CARRAWAY.—B. P. WILLIAMSON & Co.—We do not place the names of these business Houses at the head of this article, in order to puff them as enterprising and prompt merchants, but we do so to express our gratification at, and our appreciation of, the benefits they are conferring upon the planters and farmers of the State, by supplying so readily the large demand for farming implements.

Messrs. Mitchell, Allen & Co., of Newbern, and Messrs. Mitchell, Allen and Carraway, of Wilmington, have on hand, and are selling largely, the largest variety of improved farming implements ever offered in the State. At their stores in Newbern and Wilmington, they offer the greatest variety.

Messrs. B. P. Williamson & Co., besides furnishing, at their store, plows and sundry other farming implements, are manufacturing at their Foundry an almost incredible amount of plows and other farming utensils. We understand that the demand is greater than the supply.—Thus these gentlemen, while benefitting themselves, are conferring a most important benefit upon the State, when most needed. Success to them!

PROPERTY SURRENDERED.—The Military authorities have turned over to Messrs. Briggs & Dodd the extensive property in the Western part of the City, formerly used by them in their business of house-building, joinery, &c. We are glad to learn that this enterprising firm contemplates resuming that business on a large scale.

MILITARY.—We learn, from the Progress, that Maj. Carr, brevet Colonel U. S. Cavalry, is in command of this post, having relieved the late commandant, Col. R. K. Miller, 128th Regiment Indiana Volunteers.

The troops stationed here comprise Light Battery E., U. S. Artillery; companies A. and B., of the 8th. Regiment U. S. Regular Infantry, and companies A. and G., of 5th. U. S. Cavalry, with Co. A. 28th. Michigan Volunteer Infantry.

NATIONAL BANK OF CHARLOTTE.—The Times publishes the Quarterly statement of this Bank. It says that, under the skillful management of its President and Cashier, this institution has proved a decided success, and has been of benefit to the community.

"THE LAND WE LOVE!"—Gen. D. H. Hill, who proposes, as we have heretofore stated, to commence the publication of a Monthly Magazine, with the above title, at an early day, desires all subscription lists to be returned to him by the first of May. We will, with great pleasure, receive at this office the names of any persons who may wish to subscribe. $3 is the price, if paid in advance, or $5 at the end of the year.

WAYNE FEMALE COLLEGE—Rev. S. Milton Frost, President of the College, has just returned from the North. He informs us that his trip was a success—the subscriptions in cash, furniture, &c., reaching the respectable sum of $3,600. Repairs on the college will commence next week, and the school open at an early day, of which due notice will be given.—Goldsboro News.

GENERAL NEWS.

The New York Times, in noticing the fact that eighteen Republicans voted against turning Brooks (Dem.) out of his seat, and giving it to Dodge (Jacobin), claims that it illustrates the liberality of the Republicans in dealing in personal issues.

The affair is capable of another solution, which is the true one—to wit: that the injustice of turning Mr. Brooks out of the seat to which the people had chosen him, was so monstrous that not even Republican venality could swallow it.

THE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL.—The noticeable circumstance making the Senate's action yesterday in passing the civil rights bill over the President's veto was the tumultuous manner in which the announcement of Senator Morgan's vote, ranging himself under the command of Messrs. Stevens and Sumner, was received by the large body of their negro adherents who thronged the galleries. The rules of the Senate were violated by them as could not have been done by white men without official rebuke, if not punishment.—Evening Star.

On Friday last, Mrs. Andrew Johnson, wife of the President of the United States, presented to the great Southern Fair, now being held in Baltimore, a basket, containing a most magnificent collection of flowers from the White House gardens. The gift was highly appreciated and greatly admired.

DEATH OF LOUIS PHILLIPPE'S QUEEN.—The ex-Queen Marie Amelie, widow of Louis Phillippe, whose death is announced as having occurred on the 24th of March, at Claremont, in England, was the daughter of Ferdinand I., (IV.,) King of the two Sicilies. She was born on the 25th of April, 1782, and was married to Louis Phillippe, of Orleans, on the 25th of November, 1809. Since the abdication of her husband, the ex-Queen has resided nearly all the time at Claremont, where she died.

Rev. Dr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, is out in a letter against colored suffrage.

The recent Peace Proclamation is understood as abolishing the order issued by Lieutenant General Grant against the Press.

Mrs. Jane Cilley, mother of Jonathan Cilley, who was killed by Graves, in 1838, died on the 26th ult., aged [illegible].

A man in Georgia speaks of one of the Ohio Senators as "Ben Wade, and found wanting."

It is rumored at Washington that a proclamation of amnesty, to include all except about a score of the most prominent leaders in the rebellion, will be issued at an early day.

Dickens has just engaged for thirty readings of his works, and will commence with "Dr. Marigold," at St. James Hall.

MR. LINCOLN, MR. BALDWIN, AND MR. BOTTS.—The statement made by John Minor Botts before the Reconstruction Committee, to the effect that Mr. Lincoln had offered in April, 1861, to Mr. Baldwin, of Virginia, that if the Virginia Convention would adjourn he would withdraw the garrison from Forts Pickens and Sumter, and Mr. Botts' account of an alleged conversation held with Mr. Baldwin in Richmond, is emphatically denied to be true by Mr. Baldwin, and the latter will soon make public a contradiction of Botts' statement.

NO SENATOR FROM NEW JERSEY.—The New Jersey Legislature adjourned Friday sine die, without choosing a Senator in place of Mr. Stockton, who was so unjustly expelled by the Radical majority in the United States Senate. Such vacancy having occurred during the session of the Legislature, the Governor cannot appoint his successor, and consequently New Jersey will remain without one of its Senators until a new Legislature is elected by the people, when, we predict, Mr. Stockton will return to the seat from which he was so unceremoniously ejected.

The receipts of cotton at Liverpool during the week ending March 23rd, reached the large number of 151,761 bales. These are probably the heaviest receipts ever known in that market for a similar period, and it is not surprising that prices gave way under them. The only wonder is that the fall was not greater. The bulk of the imports came from India.

A decision has been rendered by the Kentucky Court of Appeals, which virtually prevents either Confederate or Union soldiers from being prosecuted for acts committed under orders of superior officers.

The "Civil Rights" Bill is a dirty Bill. It is a filthy Bill. Those who vote for it, after President Johnson's lucid exposition of its loathsome character, will deserve to have dunghills for monuments.—Lou. Jour.

SUSAN J. MOORE vs. DAVID DURHAM, } Original Attachment.

IN this case it appearing to the Court, that the defendant is an inhabitant of another State: It is ordered, that publication be made in the Sentinel newspaper published at Raleigh, for six weeks, for the said defendant to appear at the next term of the Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions to be held for the County of Chowan, at Edenton, on the 1st Monday of May next and plead or judgment by default will be extended and other proceedings had according to law.

$50 REWARD.

Stolen from the Subscriber, living near Chapel Hill, on the night of the 8th inst., one BLACK MARE MULE, 5 or 6 years old, medium size, and very much rubbed by the harness, especially on the rump. She has a roached mane and tail. She had shoes on before feet when taken, one of which is considerably worn, also rubbed badly by the girth, so that the skin has been rubbed off under the left side.

I will pay $25 for the recovery of the Mule, or $50 for the recovery of the mule, and evidence to convict the thief. WILLIE HENDERSON.

Confederate Dead.

Read the following beautiful poem by Tenella, and while it stirs the heart to remember the gallant dead who fell in defence of our cause, let the hand also be open to bestow whatever may be spared for the purpose of gathering their bones where they may rest in secure repose, until they shall again be clothed for the life of immortality.

From the N. C. Presbyterian.

THE STONEWALL CEMETERY
For the Confederate Soldiers buried in and around Winchester, Virginia.

The storm of war which swept our country wide,
Like snow-flakes scattered graves on every side;
Here, heaped like drifts on battle-fields they lie,
There, dropped like leaves, where soldiers chanced to die.
Back to their homes our State hath brought
Some honored sons, who for her freedom fought
And, where their feet in youth and manhood strayed,
Beneath their native sod her children laid;
That kindred hands with loving care might keep
The graves in which her cherished soldiers sleep.
Thus to her heart in close embrace she drew
Her GORDON, PENDER, BRANCH and PETTIGREW.
But oh! there's many a one as leal and brave
Who slumbers in a soldier's unmarked grave;
Buried just where he fell, by friend or foe,
Without one sign by which his State may know,
Now that the fearful conflict's done,
What grave enfolds the ashes of her son.
Upon Virginia's torn and bleeding breast
A band of Carolina's martyrs rest.
Right nobly did she do her part to fill
The unmarked graves which dot each vale and hill,
Where bravely fought—oh! how bravely died
Virginia's boast and Carolina's pride,
The grand, gigantic STONEWALL of our cause,
Whose name we breathe and then in reverence pause.
And shall they lie, uncared for, where they fell,
Without one mark the soldier's grave to tell?
Were they not JACKSON'S BOYS? and does not he Stand in our hearts beside immortal LEE?
Oh! in his name Virginia's daughters ask
Each sister State to aid them in their task,
And ere their graves like snow-flakes melt away,
The bones of JACKSON'S BOYS together lay:
That they in death may sleep beneath that name,
Which shed upon their lives its rays of fame.

RALEIGH, March 30. TENELLA.

Presentiment of Death.

A remarkable instance of premonition of death occurred at Newton, Sussex county, N. J., on Wednesday of last week, and is narrated by the Register of that place. A Mr. Lorenzo D. Demarest, whose health has been bad for years, but who, on that day, was looking as well as usual, sent for the Rev. Levi Morse in the afternoon, told him he would die that night, and asked him if he would not be saved, provided the records of his deeds in the flesh should show a preponderance of good over evil works. The minister pointed out the true way of salvation by penitence and faith, and Mr. Demarest then requested Mr. Morse to call upon him again in the evening, repeating the assertion that he would die that night, with the further statement that the night previous his father, who had been dead many years, came to him and kissed him, and drew his cold hand over his breast. Here Mr. Demarest showed with his own the direction his father's hand had taken. "That," said he, "means death; it is cold there already." He then said that he wanted his body conveyed to a certain place for interment—that he wished Mr. M. to preach the funeral discourse, and besought him to see to it that he was not buried alive, remarking that he had obtained a promise from Dr. Roe to look to the matter. His conversation denoted considerable delirium, and after it had been continued for some time Mr. Morse stated that he could not call again in the evening, but would come to see him on the following morning, at which time the minister visited the house and found that Mr. Demarest had died at eleven o'clock on Wednesday night, having become very delirious prior to being seized with the fatal spasm. For several hours after his death the body retained considerable warmth; a circumstance that gave some impressiveness to his request not to be interred until life was ascertained to be absolutely extinct.

STRONG CHARACTERS.—Strength of character consists of two things—power of will and of self-restraint. It requires two things, therefore, for its existence—strong feelings and strong command over them. Now, it is here we make a great mistake; we mistake strong feelings for strong character. A man who bears all before him, before whose frown domestics tremble, and whose bursts of fury make the children of the household quake—because he has his will obeyed, and his own way in all things, we call him a strong man. The truth is that he is the weak man; it is his passions that are strong; he, mastered by them, is weak. You must measure the strength of a man by the power of the feeling he subdues, not by the power of those which subdue him. And hence composure is very often the highest result of strength. Did we never see a man receive a flagrant insult and only grow a little pale, and then reply quietly? That is a man spiritually strong.—Or did we never see a man in anguish stand, as it carved of solid rock, mastering himself? Or bearing a hopeless daily trial, remain silent, and never tell the world what cankered his home peace? That is strength. He who, with strong passions, remains chaste; he who, keenly sensitive, with many powers of indignation in him, can be proved, and yet restrain himself, and forgive—these are the strong men, the spiritual heroes.—F. W. Robertson.

Two lawyers one day, in riding the road, came up with a clergyman. Says one of them to a fellow traveler:

"We'll crack a joke upon the priest."

Pleased with the idea of their sport, they rode up, one on either side. After mutual salutations one of them says:

"How happens it, daddy, that gentleman of your cloth make such egregious blunders in the pulpit? I heard one not long since, when he wished to say 'Og, King of Bashan,' say Hog, King of Bacon.'"

"Oh," replied the divine, "we are men of like infirmities with the rest of our fellow creatures. I lately, when I should have said the devil was the father of liars—said the devil was the father of lawyers."

"Ah!" replied the other, "which are you, a knave or a fool?"

"I believe, gentlemen," he replied, "I am between both."

LIFE INSURANCE NOTICE.

THE old and well established
Ætna Company, of Hartford,
Offers superior inducements to all who wish to provide for family or friends.

All losses are promptly paid. No case of litigation has ever occurred with this Company. With assetts of $2,300,000, it offers to receive one half of the premium in a note and half in cash, and, after the second year, to credit each customer with the dividends of the Company which are now 50 per cent. With a small outlay, $500, or $10,000, or $20,000, may be secured to your family after their earthly providers are taken away. What father or husband would not feel thankful on his dying couch, that he had availed himself of every proper means to place those nearest and dearest to him, above the pinchings of want, and a life of dependance upon friends or charity? 8819 policies have been issued from the office ending Jan. 15 1866. The total income for the year 1865 was $1,683,339 57; total disbursements $527 805 24, leaving a balance to surplus fund of $1,155,244 33.

In Raleigh a large number have liberally responded and promptly acted in this matter; yet many delay, and may wait until it is too late. A man in this city lately left his place of business for his evening meal, well and healthy, but never reached that home except as he was carried there to die. Had that man taken the advice of the Agent, he might have left $5000 to minister to the necessities of a sorrowing family. Delays are dangerous, procrastination destructive. But one says, "If I only had confidence in the Company that it would pay, I would insure." Well, it never has failed to pay, and to-day is more responsible than ever before. It is patronized by some of the most sagacious minds in the land—men competent to detect and expose any deception if it existed.

Cotton, Tobacco, and all Crops.
In its action, it is as quick as Peruvian Guano, while it does not leave the land in an exhausted state, but on the other hand permanently improves it. This has been fully proven by years of trial.

WE HAVE THIS DAY FORMED A COPARTnership under the name and style of Whitford, Dill & Co.,
for the transaction of a Shipping and General
Commission Business, in this Town, West side Craven Street, on old County Wharf.

To the sale of Cotton, Naval Stores, Tobacco, Lumber, Staves, Shingles, Corn, and all kinds of Produce and Merchandise, and also to the sale and purchase of Real Estate and State and other Stocks, we will give our personal attention.

We are Agents for Murry's North Carolina Semi Weekly Line of Steamships, between Newbern and New York, and for Sailing Vessels for Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other ports in the United States and for different ports in the West Indies. Thus it will be seen that we are furnished by our own vessels with the amplest facilities for the speedy transportation of Freight and Passengers. But in addition to these, there is a weekly line of Ocean Steamships on the same route, and a tri-weekly line of Steamers by inland route through Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal to Norfolk, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York; hence Merchants and Shippers entrusting the transportation of their freight to us, can rely with confidence on its speedy transit.

☞ We will make liberal advances on consignments.

has gone into the hands of G. W. DEEMS, the discoverer, who has removed to Baltimore, Md., where he can have access to the purest and best Medicines, on the most favorable terms. He will always keep on hand a large supply, and will sell to his customers, wholesale and retail, at the shortest notice.

Where these Pills are known, especially in the Southern States, where they have been circulated so extensively, they need no recommendation—their merits are so well known by their results.

We thank our customers for the liberal patronage given us heretofore, and hope they will continue to favor us by sending their orders to G. W. DEEMS, No 28 South Calhoun Street, Baltimore, Md., where they will be promptly attended to, the cash accompanying the orders. Price 30 cts. per box; $2.50 per dozen, and a liberal discount to dealers.

For sale by P. F. PESCUD, and WILLIAMS & HAYWOOD.

A Remarkable Case.

DISEASE IN WHICH THE LUNGS AND THROAT ARE INVOLVED.—Mrs. Phebe Perkinson, Petersburg, Va., (Aug. 26, 1865,) says: "I hereby certify, that two years ago last June, I was afflicted with a disease commonly called the Breast Complaint, the pain and weakness in the breast continued to increase so that I could not bear my clothes fastened on me for the space of two years; I found great difficulty in breathing; a general debility prevailed over my whole system—so much so, that I could not walk up the step without drawing myself up by the banister; had a continued hacking cough, which distressed me greatly, four times during my illness had Hemorrhage of the Lungs. All medical treatment failed to afford me relief; it was the opinion of my friends that I must die with the consumption. I was advised to use the SOUTHERN HEPATIC PILLS, after using three boxes, strictly according to directions, I find myself in the enjoyment of perfect health; I have a good appetite, have become as fleshy as I ever was, sleep sound and pleasant, and can perform any duty with as much strength and vigor as I ever did. They certainly have acted like a perfect charm on me."

☞ For sale by the Druggists. Directions accompany each box. Sent to any part of the United States for $3 per dozen. Address,
